

I LOST MYSELF

I met my future yesterday
Under a streetlight, dressed in black and gray
She said hello, I said hello, we walked away.

Just as I planned to step aside
Commit another verbal suicide
A hopeless dream peeked out its head to gaze
Stumbled out in a daze, stepped into play
Stumbled out of a haze, walked in to stay
Opened my eyes today.

I lost myself inside a stare
A spell you cast, and didn't know it
Unlocked my head, pulled on a thread
I felt the rush and didn't blow it.
I lost myself,
I lost myself in the dream you gave me.

I drown inside her cryptic eyes
With time suspended, clocks turn hypnotized
She tears herself away as night turns into day.
And as I'm walking towards the sea
An overwhelming tide takes over me
Protects a smile that spread across my face
Surrounds my every thought with her embrace
Swallow me up and say I wanna stay
I found my home today.

I lost myself inside a stare
A spell you cast, and didn't know it
Unlocked my head, pulled on a thread
I felt the rush and didn't blow it.
I lost myself,
I lost myself in the dream you gave me.

Home is you
Home is you
Home is you

I lost myself inside a stare
A spell you cast, and didn't know it
Unlocked my head, pulled on a thread
I felt the rush and didn't blow it.
I lost myself inside a stare
A spell you cast, and didn't know it
I lost myself,
I lost myself in the dream you gave me.
