

CRAWLING

How long you stay
is up to you and not to me How much I say is of no amount of consequence How hard I try to make you think that I'm not overwhelmingly, completely falling, falling, falling, falling

Tell me how long
it takes to arrive
I can't see the finish line
Tell how long
it takes to revive
a hibernating heart
I'm crawling, crawling crawling, crawling

How far I ran without so much as just a peek around my shoulder at your innocent disbelief
I want to shout, oh but what right to I have to be truly, wholly, fully fallen Fully fallen, fully fallen

Tell me how long
it takes to arrive
I can't see the finish line
Tell how long
it takes to revive
a hibernating heart
I'm crawling, crawling crawling, crawling

Un-blur the line
Un-see the reasons why
Last night, when you went away
I wondered how, and why

Tell me how long
it takes to arrive
I can't see the finish line
Tell how long
it takes to revive

a hibernating heart
Tell me how long
it takes to arrive
I can't see the finish line
Maybe I'm wrong
to try to revive
a hibernating heart

Maybe I'm wrong
a hibernating heart
